

From Brenda LeFer:

“We saved lives. I had a Haitian RN from Atlanta, an EMT, and we joined up each day with ER docs and medics to go in the field of DELMAS, Port au Prince. There we set up thanks to a missionary preacher of his area to triage many, many injured people. My alumnus, University Of Miami, has a 300-plus bed hospital in the airport at Port au Prince which I am so proud of. The amputations, the fractures, the wounds have stunned me. I will be going back. My ultrasound machine saved lives in the field and surgeons used it too to detect blood flow with crush injuries. Please let me know where and how if the modular hospital is ongoing progress. I would like to help there too.” Brenda LeFer.
